🔷 The Lok Sabha – passes The Surrogacy (Regulation) Bill, 2019 on August 5
✓ It is now introduced in the Rajya Sabha

The Bill, introduced by Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan, seeks to ban commercial surrogacy and provides for constituting a National Surrogacy Board, State Surrogacy Boards, and the appointment of appropriate authorities for the regulation of the practice and process of surrogacy.

✓ The Surrogacy (Regulation) Bill regulates altruistic surrogacy and prohibits commercial surrogacy
✓ It defines surrogacy as a practice where a woman gives birth to a child for an eligible couple and agrees to hand over the child to them after the birth.
✓ The Bill allows altruistic surrogacy, which involves a surrogacy arrangement where the monetary reward only involves medical expenses and insurance coverage for the surrogate mother
✓ The bill seeks to allow surrogacy by infertile Indian couples from a “close relative”, while prohibiting foreigners, NRIs and PIOs from undertaking surrogacy in the country.
✓ Even singles, homosexuals and live-in couples cannot apply for surrogacy.
✓ Only Indian couples who are legally married for at least five years and possess a certificate from a doctor stating that they are medically unfit to produce a child can opt for surrogacy
✓ Besides, couples who already have children will also not be allowed to opt for surrogacy

- The Bill provides a mechanism for social, economic and educational empowerment of transgender

- The bill makes provision for establishing a national authority for safeguarding rights of transgender
- A contentious provision that criminalized begging by transgender people has been removed from the bill
- According to the 2011 census, there are more than 4.80 lakh transgender in the country

SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY & ENVIRONMENT

July 2019 - was the warmest month across the globe ever recorded

- The observation was based on the data released by the European Union’s satellite-based Earth observation network
- The unusual heat across the globe was attributed to the continued greenhouse gas emissions and the resulting impact on global temperatures

INDIAN STATES/UTs

For the first time since the categorisation of states ended in 1956 with the States Reorganisation Act, a full-fledged state has become a Union Territory. J&K joined the Indian Union as a state in 1947. Since then, state boundaries in the country have seen major alterations.
The Four Eventful Days That Decided The Fate of Kashmir

1. RAID ON KASHMIR (the final week of October 1947)
   The attack on Kashmir by Pathan tribesmen was masterminded by Pakistan army and led by senior Pakistan army officer Akbar Khan. The British had succeeded in forging an uneasy peace with the tribes of the North-West Frontier but after the British withdrew, Pakistan incited the tribesmen into launching their attack. By the last week of October 1947, about 5,000 had entered Kashmir.

2. INVADERS' ROUTE (October 23)
   The tribesmen travelled through Pakistan carrying modern military gear. The first stand-off was at Muzaffarabad where they faced a battalion of Dogra troops, capturing the bridge between Muzaffarabad and Domel, which itself fell to the attackers the same day. Over the next two days, they took Garhi and Chishti. The main group of attackers then proceeded towards Uri.

3. THE GALLANT 300
   At Uri, Brigadier Rajinder Singh, who led J&K state forces, was killed. “He and his colleagues will live in history like the gallant Leonidas and his 300 men who held the Persian invaders at Thermopylae,” writes civil servant VP Menon. The battle at Uri holds significance as it likely helped Maharaja Hari Singh avoid capture and bought the Indian government valuable time to bring in more forces. After the battle, the tribesmen travelled down the Jhelum river to Baramulla, the entry point into the Valley.

4. THE FLIGHT OF HARI SINGH (October 24-25)
   On October 24, the maharaja made an urgent appeal to the Indian government. He waited for a response, while the cabinet’s defence committee met in Delhi. VP Menon, administrative head and secretary of the states department, was instructed to fly to Srinagar on October 25. Menon’s priority was to get the maharaja and his family out of Srinagar. There were no forces left to guard the capital and the invaders were at the door. The king left the Valley by road for Jammu.

5. INDIAN TROOPS FLY INTO THE VALLEY
   On October 26, after a cabinet defence committee meeting, the government decided to fly two companies of troops to Srinagar. Menon himself took a plane to Jammu where the king was stationed.

6. SIGNING OF INSTRUMENT OF ACCESSION (October 26)
   Governor-general Mountbatten had contended it would be the “height of folly” to send troops to a neutral state without an accession completed. “but that it should only be temporary prior to a referendum.” Neither Nehru nor Sardar Patel attached any importance to the “temporary” clause, but Menon was carrying a message for the maharaja: he had to join the Union if he wanted to ward off the invasion. The king was ready to accede. In fact, according to Menon’s memoirs, he had left word with an aide that if Menon did not return with an offer, he was to shoot the king in his sleep. Hari Singh signed the accession letter regretting that the invasion had left him with no time to decide what was in the best interest of his state, to stay independent or merge with India or Pakistan.

7. FINAL ACT (October 27)
   Menon returned to Delhi on October 27 with both the letter and instrument of Accession. The cabinet defence committee accepted the accession, subject to a proviso that a referendum would be held in the state when the law and order situation allowed it. Sheikh Abdullah took charge of an emergency administration in Kashmir. Nehru appointed the former Kashmir PM N Gopalaswamy Ayyangar as a cabinet minister to look after Kashmir affairs. Ayyangar was one of the chief architects of Article 370.
Rajya Sabha – adopts the J&K Reorganisation Bill, with 125 votes in favour and 61 against

- Three key Opposition parties, the Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP), the Telugu Desam Party (TDP) and Aam Aadmi Party (AAP), supported the government
- The AIADMK, Lok Jan Shakti Party, Republican Party of India, Akali Dal, Shiv Sena, YSR Congress Party, Telangana Rashtra Samithi and Biju Janata Dal all voted in support of the legislation
- The parties which opposed the Bill included the Congress, the DMK, the SP, the RJD, the CPI(M), the CPI, the Muslim League, the Kerala Congress and the MDMK

The new order

Union Home Minister Anil Shah introduced two statutory resolutions to recommend that the President issue a notification rendering Article 370 inoperative, and to accept the Jammu and Kashmir Reorganisation Bill. A look at how the government changed the special status of the State overnight:

- Under Article 370, Jammu and Kashmir had its own constitution and the laws passed by Parliament were applicable to the State only with the State government’s concurrence. The President was empowered to decide which provisions of the Indian Constitution would be applicable with the State’s assent.

- Article 35A protected the laws such as ban on outsiders buying property in the State and women marrying non-Kashmiris losing their property rights.

- These special measures could only be altered on the recommendation of the Sadar-i-Riyasat (on the advice of the Ministers Council) or by the Constituent Assembly.

- President Ram Nath Kovind declared that all provisions of the Indian Constitution shall now apply to the State.

- To scrap Article 370 altogether, a few clauses were added to Article 367 on Monday which contain “interpretations”. The reference to the ‘Constituent Assembly’ was amended to read ‘Legislative Assembly of the State’. All references to the ‘Sadar-i-Riyasat’ will be construed as references to the Governor.

- Both UTs to have LG, for now the Governor of State will continue as both.

SHARING OF POWER

The Jammu and Kashmir Reorganisation Bill, 2019, will bring about the following changes to the State:

- Two Union Territories to be formed out of the State of Jammu and Kashmir. UT of Ladakh (Kargil and Leh districts) and UT of J&K (all other districts of the State of J&K).

- Four sitting Rajya Sabha members of the State will become MPs of UT of J&K.

- Five Lok Sabha seats to go to the UT of J&K.

- Legislative Assembly of UT of J&K will have 107 seats to be chosen through a direct election.

- One Lok Sabha seat to go to the UT of Ladakh.

- 24 seats in PoK will be vacant.
